PROJECTS and EXPERIENCE

CricAnalysis

[July 2018]

This project is a web application used for the prediction of a team of top 11 players based on their performance and data in the current year and a world cup predictor for the prediction of the team/country which is most likely to become winner based on the data from 1975 to the present.

Contribution: I developed the complete project.

Technology worked on: Python, Django, Scrappy.

Back-end development intern at Medicians

[Mar 2018- April 2018]

I have worked on different applications of django. I have also worked on razor api and cloundinary. With other interns I was tasked to find bugs and update some change in the product.

Tour and Travel

[Dec 2015 – January 2016]

This project was developed for the submission of project in 12th standard final practical. This project was designed for a simple tour and travels application where a user would be prompted to select various destinations and a dummy ticket depicted their name, source and final destination would be automatically generated.
